The New Mexico BCC Program is a cooperative effort of the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), State of New Mexico and healthcare partners to encourage screening for breast and cervical cancer. The purpose of screening is to detect cancer in its earliest stage, so it can be treated or cured. Screening for breast cancer involves a breast examination and a breast X-ray called a mammogram. Screening for cervical cancer includes a scraping from the cervix (opening of the uterus) called a Pap test and may also include an HPV (Human Papilloma Virus) test.

Consent for Participation and Release of Information

You are being offered an opportunity to participate in the New Mexico BCC Program because you are attending one of the BCC Program’s screening sites. Participation involves the following:

- If you meet the BCC Program’s eligibility criteria (age, income and insurance status), you may be able to receive a clinic/doctor visit, Pap test with or without an HPV test, and clinical breast exam at no cost. Beginning at age 40 years, you may be able to get a screening mammogram at no cost. Ask your healthcare provider to tell you which specific services will be paid by the BCC Program and how often you may receive them. Services provided to you that do not follow the BCC Program’s schedule of services may become your financial responsibility.

- If you have an abnormal screening test result, the clinic/doctor will work with the BCC Program to help you obtain further diagnostic tests and treatment. The BCC Program can pay for limited diagnostic services but cannot pay for treatment. Your health care provider at the clinic or your doctor can tell you which specific services the BCC Program can pay for and those that are not covered. Your clinic/doctor will let you know when you are due to return for your next Pap test and/or mammogram.

- If you are participating in the BCC Program for clinical and/or patient navigation services, we will make your health information available to the BCC Program. The BCC Program shares your health information with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) for quality improvement and to evaluate the services provided to you through the BCC Program. The information shared with CDC does not include your name, address, or other personal identifying information.
